

The source data and information of the monitored object are uploaded to the server

The monitoring results and intervention methods are sent back to the client